THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE WHOLE MAN

The type of education one receives is directly related to his understanding of life and the philosophy upon which it is based. The philosophical ideal of Coyle has for its foundation three inevitable factors: that man must earn a livelihood, live, and die regardless of the form of training he has received. To exercise each of these to its fullest requires a completely rounded personality, the total man, whose mind, heart and hand have been equally and at the same time properly developed to their respective capacities. Coyle students have been subjected to the influence of one of the humanistic movements which hold as its chief tenet, the development of the individual.

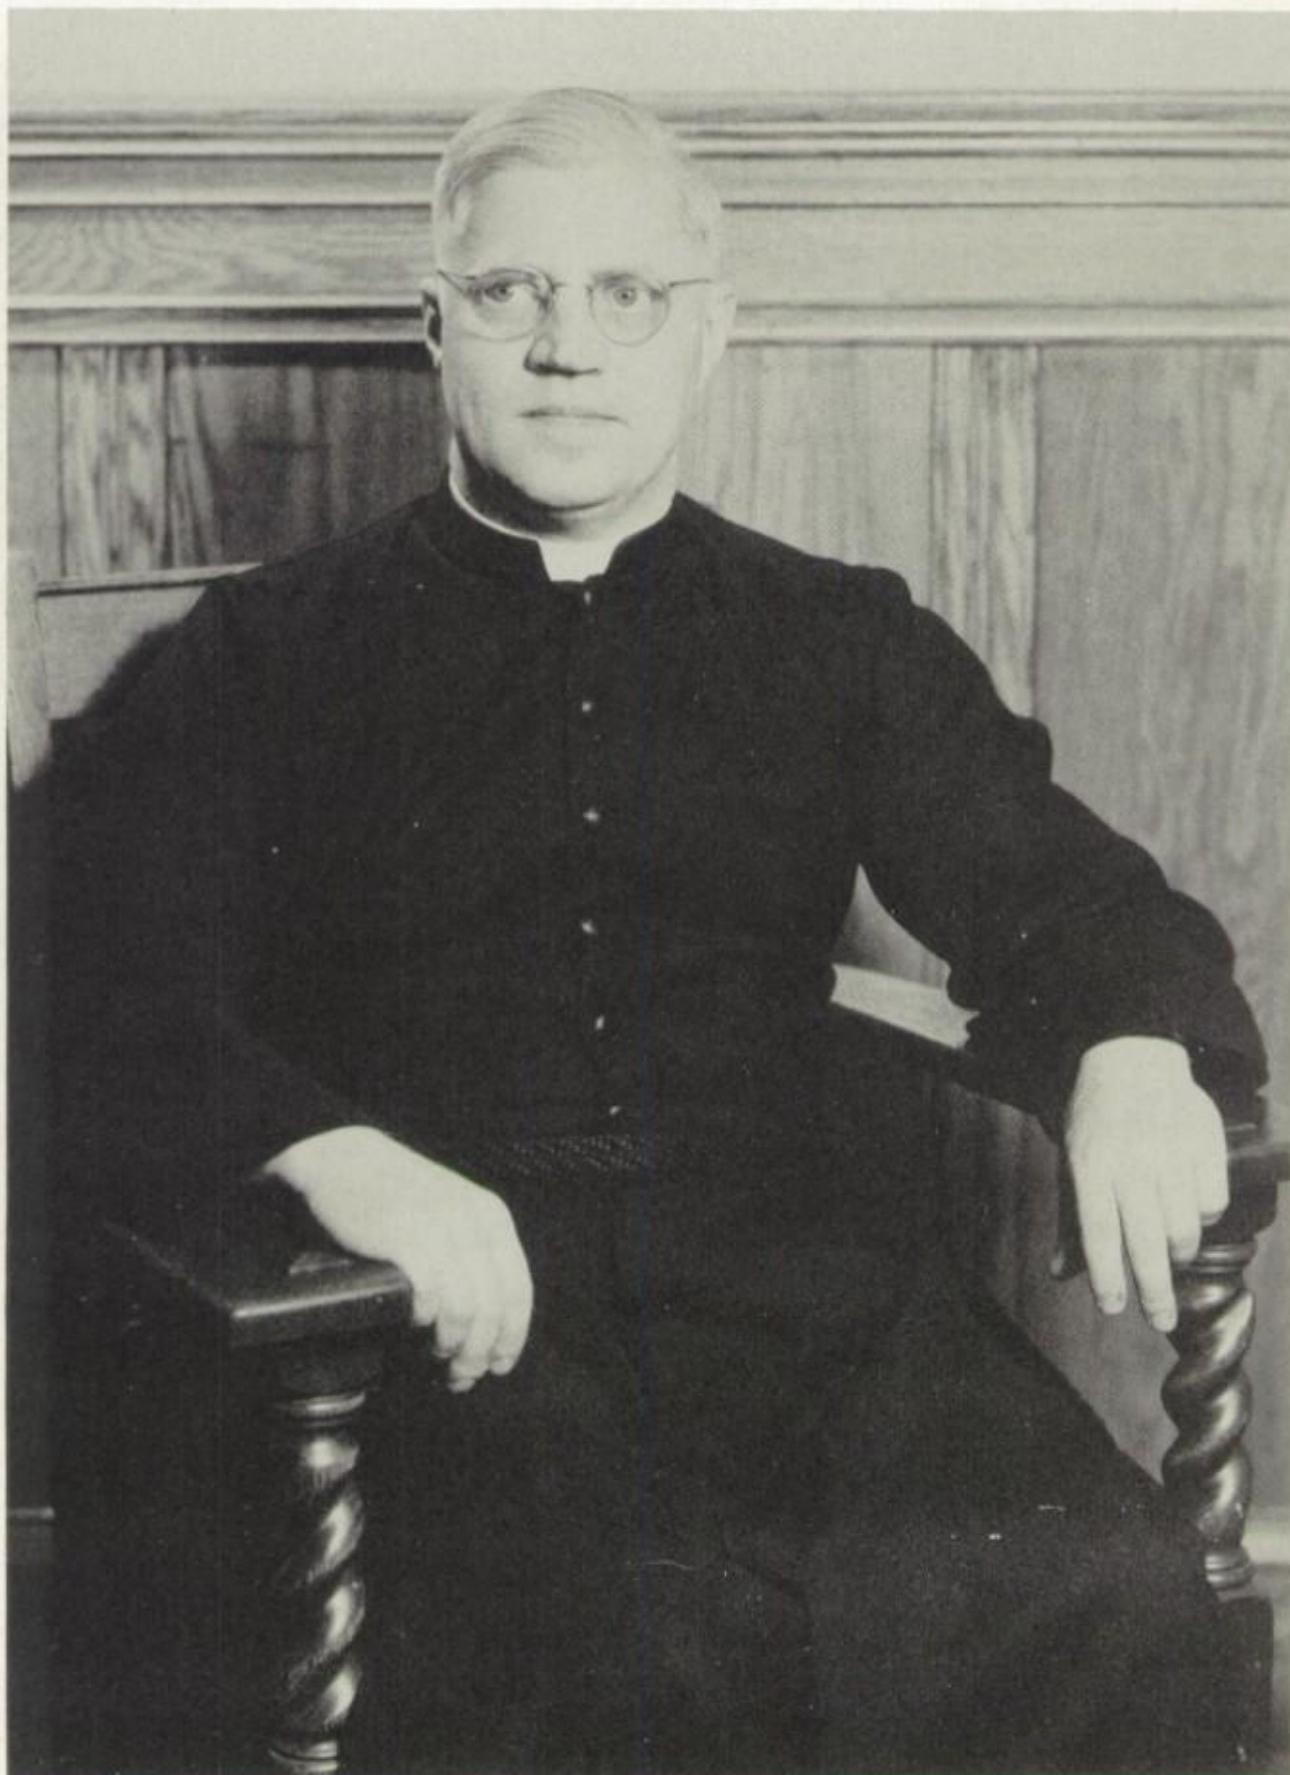

The Ancient Greeks and Romans, lacking the supernatural goal given men by faith, centered their studies about man and the problems of his materialistic happiness. Their conclusion was that each should struggle for the fullest development of his individuality in order that life might be as harmonious and complete as possible. Thus their emphasis was upon a sound mind and a sound body theory.

We of Coyle follow the traditions of St. Thomas More and St. John Fisher which adapt the culture of the ancient writers to Christian standards in order that the strength of the mind and body might be matched with spiritual fortitude. The Pagan Humanists fail in obtaining their goal for the omission of the spiritual development produces incomplete personality.

This book was undertaken with the purpose of presenting in a concrete and graphic manner these principles and their effects upon the mind, the heart and the hand of all Coyle students.

Brother Richard, C.S.C.

MAGNA EST GLORIA EJUS AUXILIO TUO,

DEDICATION

To Brother Richard, C.S.C., our principal, in acknowledgment of his sincere interest and gratuitous labors in behalf of his students, we, the Class of 1949, respectfully dedicate this volume of the COYLE REVIEW. Brother Richard is observing this year his Silver Jubilee in the teaching profession which was devoted entirely to the development of the spiritual, mental and physical man, the total man. For twelve of these years, Brother has been guiding the students here at Coyle to their fruition into Catholic manhood. We depart as the fruit of his unrestrained labors. With humility and gratitude we pray that we may be sound fruit — worthy exponents of the high ideals established within us in order to be an asset both to God and to our Country.

MAJESTATEM ET DECOREM POSUISTI SUPER EUM.

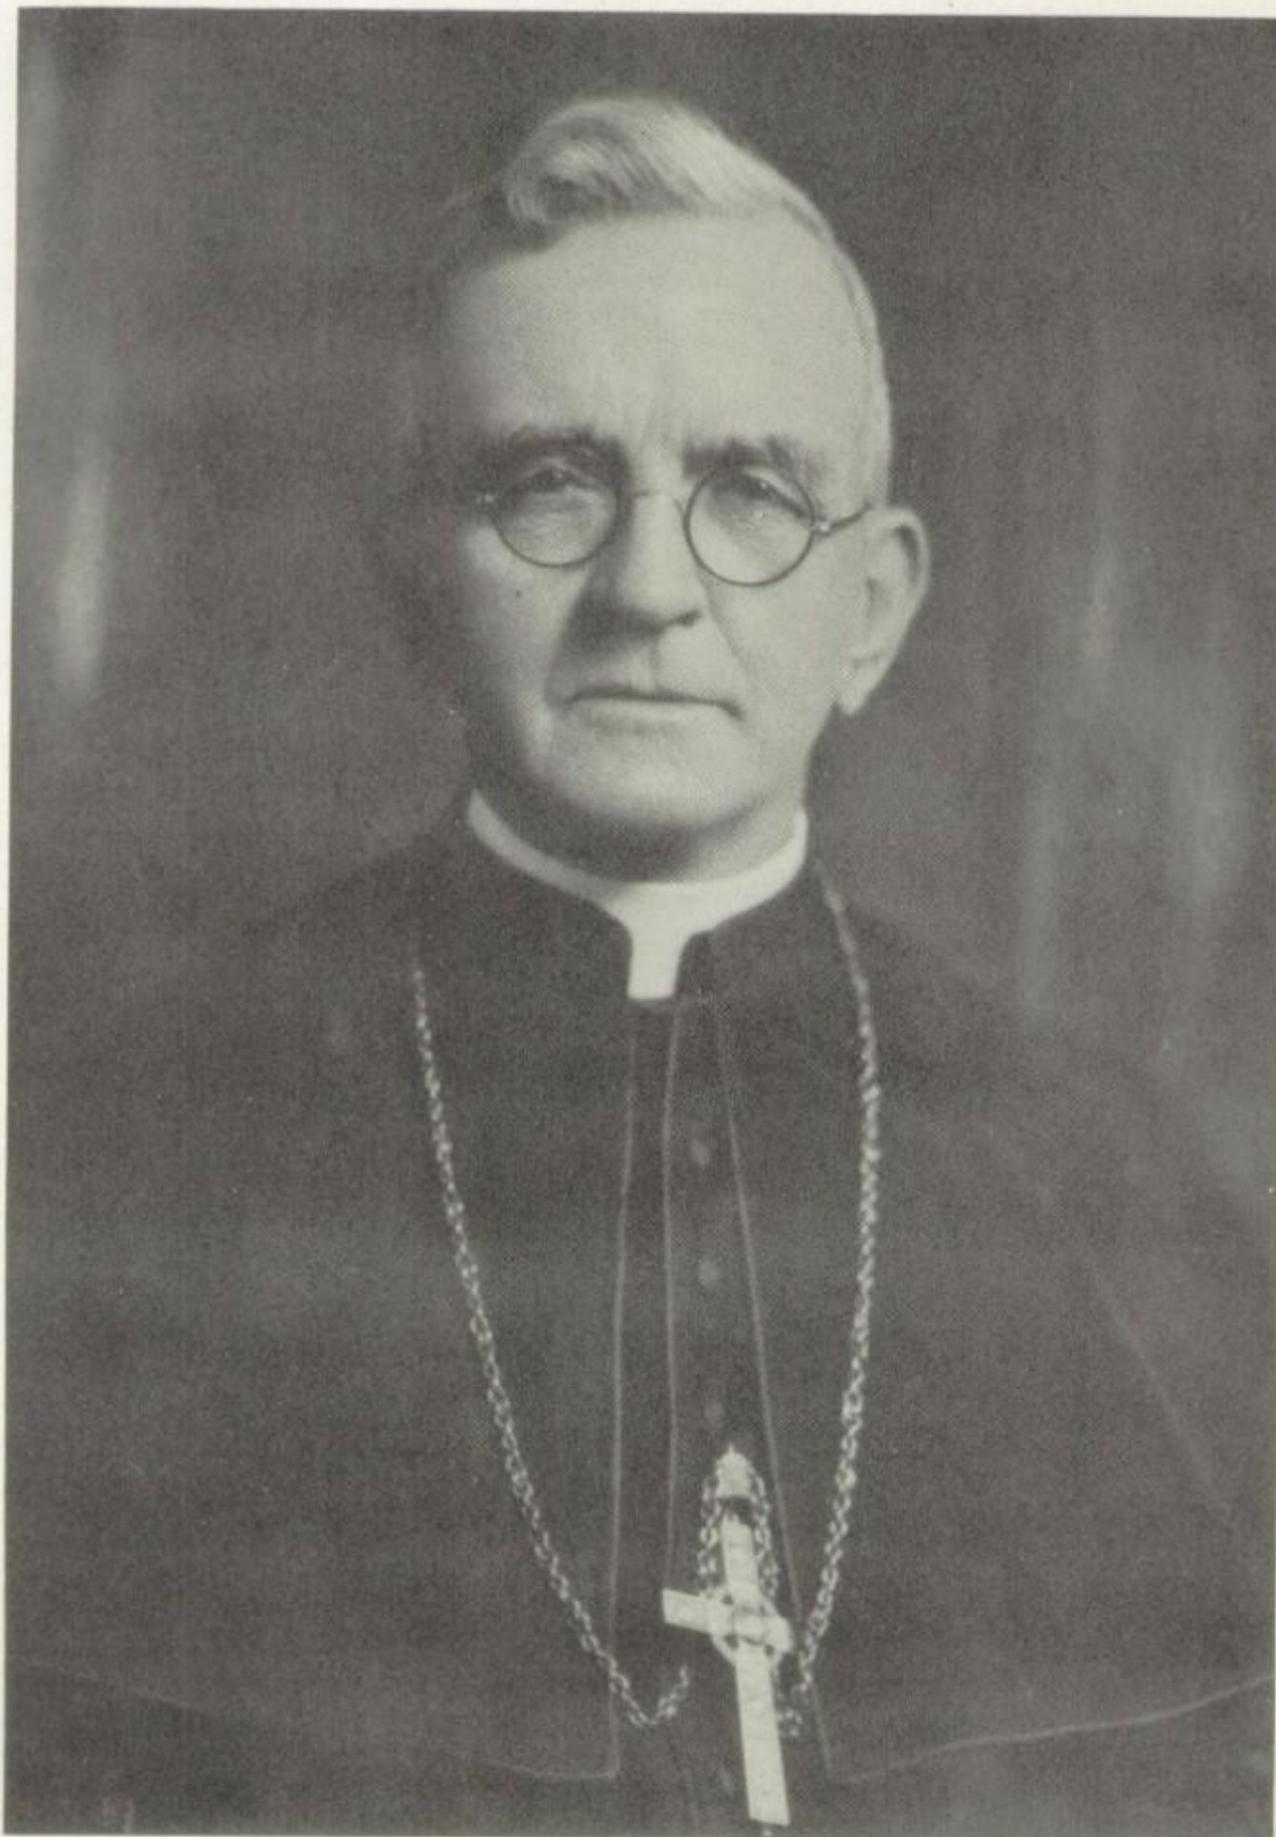

Let it not be forgotten that as the character is molded in the formative years, the same shall it be for the rest of the span of life.

A N D   F A C U L T Y

TO HIS EXCELLENCE, BISHOP JAMES E. CASSIDY

Upon the occasion of the celebration of your Golden Anniversary of Ordination to the Holy Priesthood, we feel that our personal thanks should be expressed in gratitude for one particular act of your administration of this diocese, that of bringing Monsignor James Coyle High School into existence. Though there are many other acts, we feel that this alone was of a sufficiently personal nature that no one but ourselves, who have been influenced directly, could adequately thank you. As our course within these walls draws to a close, we, in parting, wish by this expression to assure you of our sincere gratitude.

ACTIVITIES

THE DRAMATIC CLUB

BROTHER THEOPHILUS, C.S.C.

Acting is but one of the many opportunities offered a high school student to develop within himself the art of self-expression. By participating in such undertakings, the faculties of concentration and retention are exercised. This was the case of the twelve hopeful thespians as they began the long, tedious work of preparing this year's production, "The Big Help," under the direction of Brother Theophilus, C.S.C. As is the case of all knowledge, the end fully rewards all efforts undertaken in its attainment.

The plot, of this year's presentation, centered around the short-tempered and bellowing Mr. Hopford (John Driscoll), whose chief concern was his election to the office of Alderman. These efforts were constantly interrupted by the many problems that arose within his own family. The entrance of the aesthetic Gail Parkhurst (John Lancaster) served as a catalyst to cause a chain reaction in a series of adolescent problems.

Gail soon finds himself attracted to Jackie Hopford (Maureen McManus), who, misunderstanding his attention, treats him coldly. Eventually this difficulty is overcome through the assistance of her movie-minded sister, Janet (Gertrude Zawacki) and her "not-too-bright" boy friend, Bob Davenhall (Charles Grady), whose father happens to be opposing Mr. Hopford for the Office of Alderman. Interwoven is the story of Claude Hopford, Junior (William Hurley), who, detesting his name and desiring to change it to plain Bill, tries various means to disgrace the family name in order to force his father to give the required permission.

The calm, steady, guiding hand of Mrs. Hopford (Jean Romani) is continually required to restrain the youthful zeal of the incomparable Joe Dobson (William Sullivan), the family maid, Gertrude (Marguerite Gracia), the Waynesborough High gossip, Dodie Evans (Audrey Politella), the reporter from the local newspaper (Betsy Jones), and the man from the Welfare League (Edward Selleck), from destroying the dreams and hopes of all concerned.

DEBATE CLUB

Antone Luongo and Morgan Powers demonstrate their technique.

This year's Debate Club found itself faced with two varied and interesting problems for discussion. During the Fall season, the topic touched upon the issue of the day by challenging the justification of the House's un-American Activities Committee. With the opening of the Spring debating session, the topic was altered to treat the subject of outdoor advertising. Although both subjects demanded totally different treatments, this year's team arose to the attack in the Narragansett Interscholastic Debating League.

Under the directorship of Mr. John O'Neill, the Club sent two teams in the arena of mental combat. Representing the negative were Morgan Powers and Antone Luongo, with Joseph Delaney and Roger Araujo as substitutes. Defending the affirmative's position were William Briggs and Edward Selleck, with Richard Belmore and Francis Boyes in the understudy positions.

STAGE TECHNICIANS

During the school year many events occur in which the Stage Technicians play a necessary and an important role. Some of their activities during this past year included the remodeling of the existing stage set and the building of new pieces, during Thanksgiving vacation, in order to create for the audience the Hopford home in "The Big Help." This work required the sawing of lumber, the driving of nails, the swishing of paint brushes, the arrangements of lights and those problems back stage during the actual presentations. The creation of the roof-top of an oriental palace for the Christmas assembly proved to be their next assignment. Also on their agenda was the stage setting for the Annual Band Concert. Although this small group of students do not receive prominent recognition for their labors, they freely devote their time to make this invaluable contribution in support of those activities which require their assistance.

COYLE REVIEW

Journalism, as a tool of the people, has become a rapidly advancing profession. Newspapers, periodicals and novels are in demand today more than ever due to the enlivened reader's interest in the world about him. Each of these forms of reading matter evolves from numerous and tedious tasks executed beforehand—writing, proof-reading and the construction of lay-outs.

The 1949 COYLE REVIEW staff met and solved these problems, thereby gaining an acquaintanceship with the process of publication that may benefit them later in life. Involved in such an undertaking as a yearbook is invaluable experience in the matters of advertising contracts, business records, the necessity of meeting dead-lines which will have an immediate carry-over value into our lives after graduation.

In reality the Advertising Managers fired the gun which started all, including themselves, on the year long race to meet those ever pressing onward dead-lines—the taskmaster of the profession. The Co-editors, with their staff, took turns in running the relay, cheered by the exhortations and the dire promises of their moderator.

This intricate, touch-and-go action continued through the entire length of the year, as the staff met and conquered the obstacles in their path to publication. Typical of such a struggle is the usual last minute "deadline" despair, all hope of meeting this is abandoned. Yet, on the appointed day, the assignments pour in almost without exception and the book is finally ready for distribution.

Mr. Powers drives his point home.

Under the direction of Brother Cyrinus, C.S.C., the COYLE WARRIOR entered its thirteenth year of publication, as a printed paper, to serve its designated purpose of bringing to the entire student body the activities of various groups within the family of Coyle. By presenting the aspects of Catholic Action as practiced by the various organizations, it also fulfilled the obligation of the Catholic Press, that of acquainting students with the various ways in which they may serve their Church, their country, and their school.

Last year the WARRIOR attempted, as an experiment, to produce its paper entirely from the funds allotted this organization from the Activity Fee which necessitated a diminished form of the paper. At the requests of the students this Fall, the WARRIOR again returned to its original format which was made possible by the solicitation of advertisements. The large scale edition, as it reached the students throughout the year, has fulfilled all expectations.

Another change that occurred was in regard to staff membership. Following the lead of the REVIEW, which last year became a Senior activity, this year's WARRIOR staff was composed entirely of representatives of the Junior Class.

As a newspaper cannot be the sole publication of one man, it was upon the shoulders of the staff, under the direction of their Editor-in-Chief, James Pacheco, that the task of designing the WARRIOR'S "new look" rested. By many hours of labor, they were able to produce a paper deserving the gratitude of the student body. Stimulated by the immediate interest taken by the students, the members of the staff were more than willing to give their free time to gathering material, to proof-reading, and to preparing dummies, required to develop a better newspaper.

THE BAND

Organized during the early days of Coyle, the Band has served to develop the cultural life and to teach a worthy manner in which to use leisure time, in order to round out the total personality of the student body. It has become an asset to the school by its participation in the activities of the football season, and, in its own right, by its annual Spring Concert. The spectators at the games will remember the precision maneuvers and the varied formations executed on the playing field during half time under the direction of Brother Renatus, C.S.C., and carried out by the band officers George Horan, President, Thomas Moran, Student Director, John Kearns, Drum Major, Henry Fanning, Manager, and Charles Souza, Librarian.

In addition to their half-time displays, the Band spends much time in the preparation of the Annual Concert. This year's concert, truly a major event, was held on May 9th. The varied program included a series of popular overtures arranged for concert band work such as Olivadot's "Carnival of Roses" and Butchel's melodic "Shalimar." No Band Concert is considered complete without a section totally devoted to traditional marches delivered with brilliant trumpet work and military snap. Besides those long standing favorites of this type of music, the Band presented Afford's "Colonel Bogey" and McCoy's "Lights Out" which found immediate audience approval.

In acknowledgement of their faithful service and the fulfillment of the requirements, Monograms were awarded this year to Thomas Guglielmo, George Horan, and Thomas Moran.

CHRISTMAS

The 1948 Christmas Prom, presented by the Junior Class for the second consecutive year, proved to be a grand success to more than one hundred couples in attendance. The elaborate decorations, the fruits of the Dance Committee's labors under the direction of Brother Ralph, C.S.C., well merited the praise it received as it marked one of the high lights of the evening's festivities. Numerous lighted trees adorned the walls of the auditorium, while, suspended from the overhead streamers, brilliant sparkles representing snow crystals added to the wintry atmosphere.

The music of Artie Shaw lent an air of sophistication to the dance, except for the traditional comedy number which has become increasingly popular with the years. Much to the pleasure of those in attendance; a number of requests were honored by "Maestro" Shaw.

Adding to the dignity of the social evening were the chaperones, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Chicca, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pacheco, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hunt, and Mr. and Mrs. John Joy, who were greeted with heartfelt applause upon being presented to the students and their guests. The event was also honored by the presence of many alumni, some of whom were home on leave from various branches of the armed forces.

The dance itself, the pinnacle of the Christmas vacation, was fully enjoyed by all, most of the guests remaining until the very last number. After the intermission repast, many participated in the Grand March which was led by the officers of the Junior Class and their guests. With the strains of the last serenade echoing throughout the room, a galaxy of starry-eyed dancers reluctantly acknowledged the termination of a long awaited but quickly passed, event.

CAMERA CLUB

The Camera Club, under the supervision of Brother Thaddeus, C.S.C., has been meeting during the eighth period, once a week to discuss the basic principles of photography—developing, printing, and enlarging photographs. For those more advanced, Brother Thaddeus has posed the technical problems of toning and copy work to challenge their activities.

Besides studying the mechanics of photography, this organization has opened to its members the opportunities of entering their work in National Contests. In past years, several of the members have earned Certificates of Merit in the National High School Photographic Awards Contest.

As an added activity to inspire not only its own members but other students in school to greater artistry in their photographic endeavours, the Club sponsored, during the Fall, an exhibition of outstanding examples of the work produced by other high school students throughout the nation. The next time you see a man with a camera look closely and you will usually find him to be one of the members of this organization.

The Decorators' Club, revived last year in an unofficial manner after a long period of dormancy, proved to be so successful that it was restored to the calendar of Coyle organizations this Fall. This activity deserves praise for originating and executing this unique method of arousing and sustaining extra show of spirit connected with football. The members, few as they were, offered their Saturday mornings on each of the home game days to promote this display of Warrior ardor in support of their team. It is the hope that this "infant" in the list of extra-curricular activities, will prosper with each succeeding year in order to serve the school in an even greater capacity.

DECLAMATION

After weeks of preparation, eleven finalists, chosen from the Freshmen and Sophomore Classes, paced nervously behind the blue curtains as they awaited the Master of Ceremonies to announce their names. For several, this activity marked their first opportunity to appear before their assembled classmates. One by one the pieces they had chosen were recited — now impassioned, now pleading — as they interpreted the author's words in an attempt to win the audience, the judges and the coveted Father Dolan Declamation Medals.

The last speaker had finished, an excited buzz arose from the audience as all awaited the judges' verdicts. Tension increased as Edward Selleck, the Master of Ceremonies, began to read the Medalist's names. William Hurley captured First Honors for the second year with his recitation of "The Ride of Collin's Grave". Joseph Delaney's treatment of "Our Responsibility As A Nation" earned Second Honors, while Henry Fanning won Third Honors with his "Liberty or Death" speech. The other contestants and their selections were: Roger Araujo, "The American Experiment"; Dale Bellerose, "The Charge of the Light Brigade"; Leo Harlow; Hamlet's "To Be Or Not To Be"; Paul Najim, "Gunga Din"; John O'Toole, "The Ballad of the Harp-Weaver"; Raymond Perra, "Antony's Funeral Oration"; Raymond Walsh, "The Definition of a Gentleman"; and Peter Wayner, "My Last Duchess".

ORATORY

In addition to the Bishop Cassidy Medals in Oratory, the honor of Class Orator for the Commencement exercises formed an incentive towards a scholastic attitude in the competition among the members of the Junior and Senior Classes. After weeks of careful research and preparation, the many hopeful orators presented their papers and anxiously awaited the results of the eliminations which were to be posted the following morning bearing the names of those elected, from a group of fourteen, to compete in the finals. When the awaited list appeared, it bore the names of two Juniors, Francis Boyes, "Communism on the Move", and, David Gregg, "Socialized Medicine"; along with those of four Seniors, John Cronin, "Humanity Debased", John Driscoll, "Man Must Work", Joseph Mastromarino, "The "Presidential Term of Office", and Edward Selleck, "The Christopher's Call To Arms".

One short week later, after several post-school practice sessions, the day of the final competitions arrived. Needless to say, the usual signs of nervousness were exhibited but these students speaking their own thoughts with conviction, showed poise and, at times, flashes of oratorical prowess. The judges, having taken all the factors into consideration, awarded the honor of First Place and the title of Oratorian for the Class of 1949, to Edward Selleck. Joseph Mastromarino was the unanimous choice of the audience and the Judges for second place, while the bronze medal of Third Honors was presented to John Driscoll.

STUDENT

Early Sunday morning, November 21st, many Coyle students and followers gathered at Saint Mary's Church for a special Mass before starting their lengthy journey to New York City and the long anticipated football game with Cardinal Hayes High of that city. After the Mass, four busses transported the loyal supporters to Coyle for breakfast in the cafeteria. About six o'clock, as the sky in the East began to grey, began the journey to the great Metropolis.

After much cheering and excitement, the passengers finally arrived at West Haven, Connecticut, the home of the recently constructed Notre Dame High conducted by the Brothers of Holy Cross, where the fans had the opportunity to stretch their cramped muscles and to receive nourishment in the school cafeteria.

The Coyleites will long remember the hospitality tendered them on this occasion as the entire school was open to their inspection while music drifted through the P.A. system.

An hour later the busses were once again on their way, non-stop to the Tri-borough Bridge and the Randall Island Stadium. Upon arrival, everyone was amazed by the immense, beautiful stadium that was to be the scene of that day's game. Although the Warriors put up a stubborn fight they went down before an 18-0 Cardinal and Gold score.

After the game, the students and fans were again aboard their conveyances for a sight-seeing trip through the City. Under the gay lights and towering buildings, everybody had a wonderful time singing the school songs, shouting cheers, and above all, admiring the great spectacles of "Gotham," as the busses rolled through crowded Times Square.

Leaving behind the noise and glitter of the busy City, the busses turned northward to begin the return trip to Taunton. After the first hour of riding, a stop was made at a roadside restaurant for a lunch which had been eagerly anticipated by everybody. Their appetites satisfied, their muscles tired, their voices nearly reduced to a whisper, the students settled down for a more or less quiet ride home.

In the dim hours of the morning, the brigade of busses pulled into the school yard where a weary but contented group of Warrior supporters departed for their respective homes with a glorious memory to recall many years from now.

CHRISTMAS

On the last day before the beginning of vacation, the Freshmen presented their traditional Christmas Assembly. This year's program was opened by the joyous notes of favorite Christmas carols played by the Band. Immediately following, the Vested Freshmen Choir, especially trained for this appearance by Brother Florentius, C.S.C., presented a vocal tribute to the Birth of Our Lord through the rendering of four numbers, "Hark The Herald Angels Sing,"

"God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen," "O Little Town of Bethlehem," and "We Three Kings," accompanied by Henry Fanning on the piano.

As the last notes reverberated across the auditorium, the curtains parted to reveal the play which had been rehearsed for two weeks under the watchful eye of Brother Eagan, C.S.C. Their selection, "It Was Written In The Star," treated the theme of the three Wisemen and their choice of suitable gifts that were worthy to be presented to the long anticipated Messiah. The two scene play had for its setting the palace roof of Lord Balthazar (John Rego), one of the Wisemen. As the play opened Sofiamor (Roger Araujo) and Sikrit (Alfred Lenardson), members of the palace staff, were excitedly awaiting the arrival of Lord Gaspard (Joseph Delaney) and Lord Melchoir (Joseph Hopkins) for the star of the prophecy had appeared in the sky.

Sofiamor defends his master's gift.

Balthazar displays his gift of myrrh.

Difference settled they are ready to follow the Star.

ASSEMBLY

When the auditorium lights went on again after the last curtain, the approving applause of the upperclassmen and the faculty expressed their appreciation to the members of the Freshmen Class for their many hours of practice to prepare this program.

Father Bourgoin's and Brother Richard's Christmas Messages stressed the theme that this season should not be simply a day marked by the reception of gifts, but should be a time in which one could serve others, not merely by giving gifts but, more important, by offering thanks to God in Whose memory all these proceedings take place.

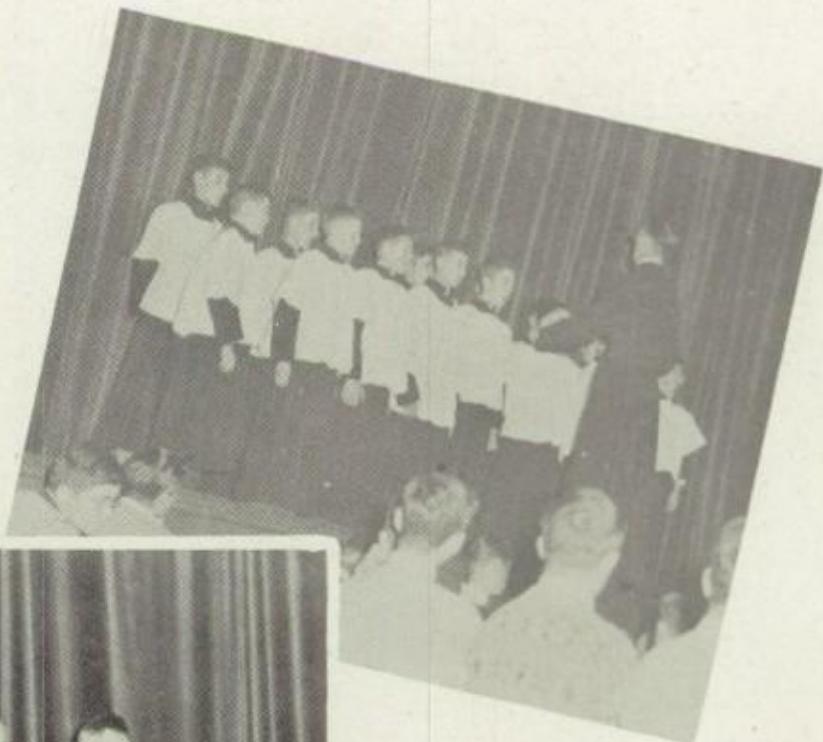

The next part of the program was marked by the awarding of the long awaited Football Monograms. In the opinion of Coach Burns and the other members of the Board, twenty-one members of this year's squad merited the monogram award which brought joy to those so honored and served as an inspiration and a goal for others to obtain in the future.

The Christmas Assembly was closed by a community sing directed by Brother Thaddeus, C.S.C., and the Recessional number played by the Band.

DEVELOPMENT

In silence and quiet the devout soul maketh progress . . . for thou canst not both attend to Me and at the same time delight thyself in transitory things.

Thomas A Kempis

Each year as Holy Mother Church, in her liturgy, turns her attention to the sufferings of her Founder, Jesus Christ, in commemoration of His three great acts of love—the redemption of the human race, and the institution of the Sacraments of Penance and of the Holy Eucharist — Coyle students withdraw momentarily from the distractions of the world to examine themselves in their relationship with God and to plot a course of life which will prove their love and their gratefulness as recipients of these gifts of Divine Love.

This retreat from all earthly confusion is characterized by a spirit of silence which lends the mind to acts of contemplation and adoration, averts the hearts to God and permits a resultant realization of our ingratitude to God for His innumerable benefits thus leading to a firm resolution to correct these conditions.

ANNUAL RETREAT

Along with this most essential inventory of the past year with its beneficial effects, the retreat permits the student to reflect upon the choice of the road he wishes to transverse in his quest of happiness and to question himself as to the state of life most suited to his personality. For this reason, the youth of today need an opportunity to withdraw temporarily from the world in order to ponder over the vocation in life to which God is calling him. Just as the sound of a dropped pin is imperceptible in the din of a subway station, yet quite distinctly heard in an empty room; so also is God's grace and bidding difficult to distinguish in the confusion of ordinary existence while quite easily understood by the mind which is elevated and dedicated to Him in meditation.

Thus it is that annually Coyle students withdraw from their ordinary occupations to dedicate the first three days of Holy Week to Christ in honor of His great love for us. Father Edward V. Winsper,

S. J., the Retreat Master, chose Christ the leader, the fighter, as the central theme of his series of Ignatian conferences. Developing this theme, Father stressed in particular Christ's manliness and His fighting spirit as those qualities most appealing to the students in order to draw them more perfectly to our crucified Lord, as their Model. His insatiable "thirst" for our love and petition, His infinite yearning for our eternal welfare compelled Him to present us two salutary gifts, that of His own Mother to aid us as our heavenly Mother, and that of Himself in the Most Blessed Sacrament, to be the Food of our soul, our Divine Nourishment.

The three days of exercises terminated with the imparting of the Papal Blessing followed by Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament. Each student left the chapel-auditorium feeling more fully prepared to celebrate the mysteries of the Passion with greater appreciation during the latter days of the Holy Week.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION AND THE TOTAL MAN

Paganistic humanism sums its principles into the text that man alone, and by himself, works out his salvation. We see the dialectical banner of Marx raised today throughout the world proclaiming that man does not need God but that he must and can achieve his own destiny and salvation. If this be true then man is free from any jurisdiction or dependency upon God. Difficulties arise from the fact that human society and everything which surrounds man bears a likeness to God and shows its relationship to the Creator. Thus it is that the Marxist, the Communist, to gain his selfish end, must first purge the Creator from the mind of mankind, to proclaim an emancipation of the intellect from that one object which can satisfy it.

To combat this malignant growth, Christian humanism maintains, since the time of Christ, that man is not a creature of isolation but an intrinsic organ of society which binds him in service to his fellowman and in reverence to his Creator. No longer is the end of man limited to his materialistic comforts but is expanded to include a preparation for the Kingdom of God in eternity.

Thus it is that Catholic education throughout the world has insisted upon the principle that all physical and mental training of man be Christo-centric. With Christ as our compass we may be assured that the voyage upon which we are sailing will be a safe one. To enable the attainment of this end, we students of Coyle have religious instruction in our obligations and duties to our God and our fellowman. This instruction does not end with the religion class but permeates all our undertakings in the search for truth. In times of difficulty we are taught to petition God for assistance, and, in times of prosperity to direct heavenward a hymn of thanksgiving. Thus is the manner in which we are formed in order that each may better fulfill his obligations as a Catholic and as an American.

FOOTBALL

Having lost most of the 1947 team through graduation, the Coyle Warriors opened their season with a comparably inexperienced squad. Plagued with an unprecedented number of injuries throughout the season, the team fought gallantly to end the season with a record of four victories against five defeats. Their finest game was the hard fought battle against Durfee in which the Fall River team barely managed to edge a last period victory, 25 — 20.

Coyle 13 — Fairhaven 6

Gerry McNally and Andy Raposa led the Warriors, in their curtain raising game, to defeat a spirited Fairhaven eleven on Father Woodley Field. Vin Joyal accounted for the extra point by his kick through the uprights following the second touchdown.

In the first period, after taking the ball on their opponent's thirty-seven yard line, the Warriors drove to the twenty. Skippy Lewis picked up five yards on an end run with McNally plowing through his own left tackle on the next play for the first score. Coyle again took the ball, in the second period, sending Raposa galloping twenty yards around end. After Butch Maguire threw a pass to Lewis, Raposa went around right guard for the second score. Joyal's conversion raised the score to 13 — 0. Sherman Kinney, the outstanding Blue and White back, scored their only tally on his end run during the final period.

Coyle 26 — Attleboro 31

The Warriors suffered their first defeat at the hands of a strong Attleboro squad at Hayward Field by a slim margin of five points. Maguire sparked the offensive play for Coyle by his passing and running plays and he set up all the touchdowns in the Warriors' spectacular second half comeback. After trailing 25 — 6 at half time, the Warriors showed signs of that old Coyle fight by running the score within five points of that held by the highly favored Attleboro team.

Maguire threw two touchdown passes to Joyal and one to Jim Hill. Later a fourth pass set up the final touchdown which was scored by Paul Silva. Joyal converted two of his four tries for the Warrior's extra points. John Cumiskey and Ed Roster stood out in Coyle line. Two of the Attleboro tallies were scored by Marcoccio. Randell, Thomson and Young scored the other three touchdowns with Cassidy kicking the extra point.

The second victory of the season came as the Warriors edged out Barnstable High on a fourth period score ending the game 14—7. Silva and Dave Sheahan scored the two Coyle touchdowns with Joyal kicking both of the conversion points. The records show that Coyle gained 204 yards by their running and passing during the afternoon.

In the first period, Brown faded back, threw a twenty-five yard pass to Bearse who ran the last thirteen yards for the game's opening score. Ashley then skirted the left end of the Warrior's line for the extra point. After Fred Murphy blocked an attempted Barnstable punt, Dick Pickett fell on the ball giving Coyle possession on their opponent's twenty-five yard line. Three plays later Maguire threw a pass to Sheahan in the end zone for the Warrior's first tally. Later in the final period, Silva crashed through his own left guard for the second touchdown from the Barnstable thirteen yard line.

Coyle 0 — New Bedford 33

A crippled Coyle eleven went down to a defeat at the hands of a strong New Bedford team at Sargeant Field, 33—0. Suffering the absence of seven first-string players, the Warriors were handicapped from the beginning. During the game, the second defeat in four games, Silva was removed from the game with a fractured left leg following the opening kick-off and Jack Twomey was injured in a clash during the last period.

The touchdowns for the New Bedford eleven were

Coyle 0 — Taunton 7

Taunton defeated Coyle in a close contest for the City Title by a third period tally which proved to be the deciding factor of the game. The win, the first by Taunton in the past four years of competition for the Lions Club Trophy, was predicted to be a juggernaut rolling over a crippled Coyle eleven. But Captain Keough, of the Orange and Black, scored only one tally on a pass from Charlie Hoye after the ball had been advanced to the forty yard line.

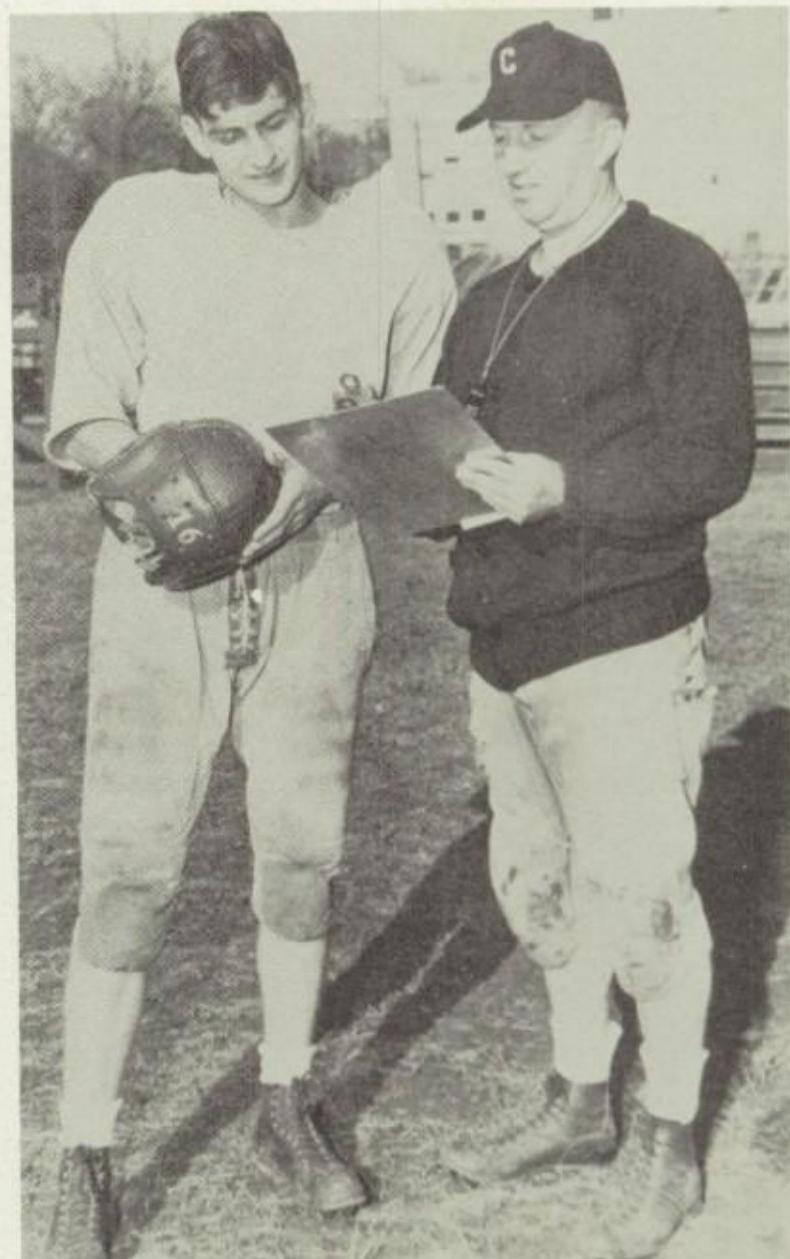

The Warriors outgained their city opponents in total yardage for the game by gaining eighty-six yards on rushing to Taunton's one hundred and eighteen, coupled with seventy-nine Blue and Gold yards on passing compared to seventeen yards by their rivals. An outstanding play of the game was Raposa's thirty yard run around left end for the longest single gain of the game.

Coyle 6 — Vincentian Institute 0

To maintain their record of never having lost to the Albany team, the Warriors gained their third victory of the season by defeating V.I., 6—0. A fourth period touchdown by Raposa accounted for the Warrior's only points. Rivalry between these two schools scored by Watkins, Chapman, Nickerson and two by Taylor. The extra points were accounted for by two Louro kicks and a Nickerson pass to Gilium. The Warriors threatened to score three times but were unable to bring them into reality.

Capt. Cumiskey and Coach Burns check strategy.

was instituted in 1938 for a two year period with the current series being resumed in 1946.

McNally made the longest run of the afternoon by dashing off right guard for a gain of twenty-eight yards. As the third period ended, the Warriors were in possession of the ball on the Vincentian thirty-two yard line. After the opening of the fourth quarter, the ball was advanced to the seven by three successive runs where Raposa picked it up to run through his own right guard for the score. Maguire, Joyal, McNally, Raposa, Cumiskey and Hart stood out for the Warriors while Wilson, Condon, Cos and O'Hara demonstrated the Albany style.

Coyle 20 — Durfee 25

A strong Durfee squad, paced by the running and passing attacks of Joe Andrews, nosed out a 25 — 20 win over Coyle in the Armistice Day game. Durfee took an early lead chalking up twelve points while holding the Warriors scoreless. Coyle fought back hard in the second period, not only matching the Fall River score but to take the lead at the half, 20 — 12. The Warrior scores were claimed by Raposa, McNally, and Dick Gracia; the extra points were kicked by Joyal.

The Durfee team struck back in the third period to come within two points of a tie, the scoreboard reading 20 — 18 in favor of Coyle. During the final minutes of the fourth quarter, the strong Red and Black team scored to take the lead and the game 25 — 20. Andrew, the star back of Durfee, scored the entire twenty-five points for his team making him one of the leading scorers in the state with one hundred forty-three points in his favor.

Coyle 0 — Cardinal Hayes 18

The Warriors lost their fifth game of the season to a powerful Cardinal Hayes team in New York City, 18 — 0. The win was the sixth in seven games for the New Yorkers. This year's score was nearly the reverse of Coyle's 20 — 7 victory over the Cardinal and Gold last year.

Neither team was able to push across a score in the first quarter. The first score came as Caccoppoli spirited the ball across the line following Rossetti's spectacular reception of a Hayes' pass. The second tally by the New Yorkers came in the final period with Graduis running seventy-four yards. Caccoppoli accounted for the final tally as he carried the ball over with only one minute remaining in the game. Captain Cumiskey, Armund, Armando, Annunziato and Raposa stood out for the Warriors with Brennan, Rossetti and Caccoppoli as the Cardinal and Gold heroes.

Managers Collins, Torres, and Sullivan line them up.

There they go . . .

Coyle 7 — Walpole 6

The traditional Thanksgiving day clash between Coyle and Walpole proved to be a thrilling finale as the Warriors ended the game with a one point lead, 7—6. The loss was the eighth in ten starts for Walpole, winning one and tying the other.

Maguire scored the first tally of the contest on a quarterback sneak from the three yard line in the first period, less than three minutes after the kickoff. Joyal's attempt for the extra point was successful giving the Warriors the winning lead.

The Walpole team held the driving Blue and Gold scoreless in the second half and managed to chalk up one score. In the third period Cisternelli carried the ball seventy yards behind beautiful blocking by his team mates only to be tackled by Joyal after overcoming a twenty yard lead. A few plays later Cisternelli gained his revenge by carrying the ball across from the two yard line. Mike O'Grady blocked the Walpole attempt for the extra point and saved the victory for Coyle.

With five varsity men graduated last year, Coach Burns had to depend upon his two veterans, Skippy Lewis and Frank Tosti, for the backbone of his 1948-49 squad. The Coach, a firm believer in hard work and aggressiveness, chose for his team only those who demonstrated these qualities through the weeks of strenuous practice.

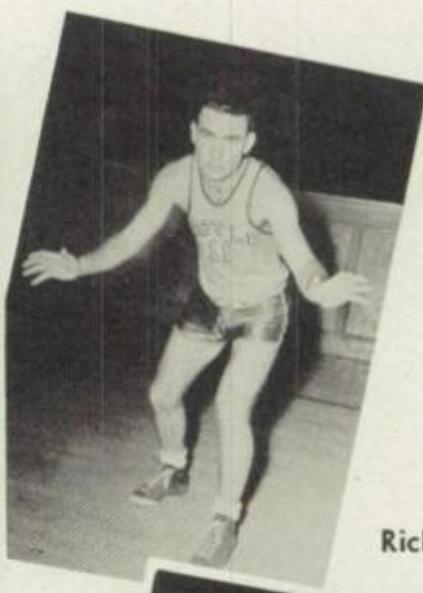

In making their first appearance, the Warriors suffered a 45 — 30 defeat at the hands of a much improved St. Sebastian team. The Coyle men had a poor start and did not start to function as a team until they encountered the strong New Bedford team. The Warriors had lost seven games and won only three up to this game. None of the wins happened to be in the Bristol Country league. Their close defeat by one point to their city rivals, Taunton, 37 — 36 proved to be a stinging blow. With their past record coupled to the fact that New Bedford ranked second in the league with only one defeat, little was expected in this conflict. The score mounted slowly for both teams until the dying moments of the game when Coyle scored the tying basket bringing the count 27—27. Roger Morgan, playing his first minutes in a varsity game, received a pass from Captain Lewis and shot from outside the bucket to break the tie. New Bedford tried to tie the game again but their shot missed its mark. Lewis nabbed the ball on the rebound and was able, with the aid of his team mates, to freeze the ball giving Coyle an upset game, 29—27.

Only two games later, the Blue and Gold turned in another upset defeating the much publicized Attleboro, 33—30. After a record of two upsets over two of the strongest teams in the league, the newspapers knighted the Warriors with the accolade of "Jack the Giant Killer."

B A S E

As a new baseball season comes into view, it would be appropriate to review some of the highlights from the many games played last year which remain predominantly in our minds. The "super-duper" pitching turned in by "Skippy" Lewis during the ninth inning rally over New Bedford, Frank Shea's death-dealing hit for two bases that produced the winning run for the Warriors, and the numerous other thrills that give that added zest needed to make this sport the nation's favorite.

Having had a fairly successful baseball season last year, Coach Burns is looking towards the 1949 season with searching eyes. Graduation claimed such players as Leo Tuite, who was chosen out of a large field of competition to represent Coyle as catcher on the BOSTON POST ALL STAR TEAM, "Reese" LeVasseur, the alert and capable second baseman, Billy Sullivan, whose strong and accurate outfield throwing arm will be missed along with Archie Franco's fine playing in the first base position. This year's team will be well supplied with such seasoned players as "Skippy" Lewis and William Warren in the pitcher's box, Ray Desmarais and Vin Joyal defending the field, John Conforti for the fourth year as short-stop and Bob Silva at the third base position, should be the combination to produce a highly successful season.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Physical education holds the important position of a bulwark to every phase of the curriculum of Catholic education. At Coyle, every physically able freshman and sophomore is required to devote one period a week to this wholesome, physical activity. The main emphasis of the program is devoted primarily to group-competitive athletics consisting of basketball, touch-football, soccer, softball and other similar group games. If personal happiness and service are worthy educational ideals, what better opportunity is provided for the realization of these ends than the happiness derived from participation in group athletics at Coyle?

The principle objectives of the physical education program may be summarized in terms of their educational values: first, to promote skill in various games and sports; second, to develop such desirable qualities as sportmanship, co-operation, self-reliance, and friendliness; third, to develop group loyalties which enable a student to put forth his best efforts subjugating individual interests to the welfare of the group; and fourth, to provide healthful exercise which contributes to the development of the individual.

Thus it can be seen that the many desired outcomes of the physical education program parallel those desired in the Catholic education of the mind, the heart, and the hand.

TOMORROW, AND TOMORROW, AND TOMORROW

Thus we bring to a close this, the 1949 edition of the COYLE REVIEW amid the varied symptoms of Spring. We have attempted within these pages to illustrate some of the many ways in which the mind, the heart, and the hand of the Coyle student is trained in order to produce a total entity, a well-rounded personality that will not only be an asset to the individual but to the society in which he will one day take his place. For some of us the closing of the school year, so quickly elapsed, marks our last at Coyle, while to others, it has only been the commencement, or another stepping stone towards the termination of our high school life. For those who are venturing into a confused world, a world worrying about the possibility of another depression, a world engaged in the death struggle of a cold war between two mighty ideologies, a world trying to solve the problems of a recent military victory, and to those who remain behind, this year will hold many cherished memories from which to draw our strength for tomorrow. What lies beyond the horizon in tomorrow only Divine Providence knows and time will reveal. Formed as Christo-centric men, we will meet the challenge with determined courage and faith.
